According to the California Department of Education Office of Financial Accountability and Information Services, pursuant to Public Contract Code section 20111(a), the bid threshold for K-12 school district purchases of equipment, materials, supplies, and services (except construction services) has been adjusted to $109,300, effective January 1, 2023. The notice may be viewed here.

The California Community Colleges Chancellor's Office is expected to announce a similar adjustment to the bid threshold for community college district purchases of equipment, materials, supplies, and services (except construction services), pursuant to Public Contract Code section 20651(a), sometime in the near future. Once released, that information will be available here.

The bid limit for construction projects remains at $15,000.

The bid thresholds for cities, counties, and special districts are not affected by the bid limits discussed above.

For those school districts and other public entities that have adopted the California Uniform Public Construction Cost Accounting Act (CUPCCAA), the force account limit remains at $60,000, the informal bid limit is $200,000 and the limit for awarding informal bids is up to $212,500, provided that the cost estimate is determined to be reasonable. These limits were last adjusted as of January 1, 2019. (See 2018 Client News Brief Number 47.)
